

US Heavy Truck Market, sales in October 2022

Torino, November 12, 2022

Sales of Class 8 trucks in the US increased sharply in October (+ 34,5% compared to last year).

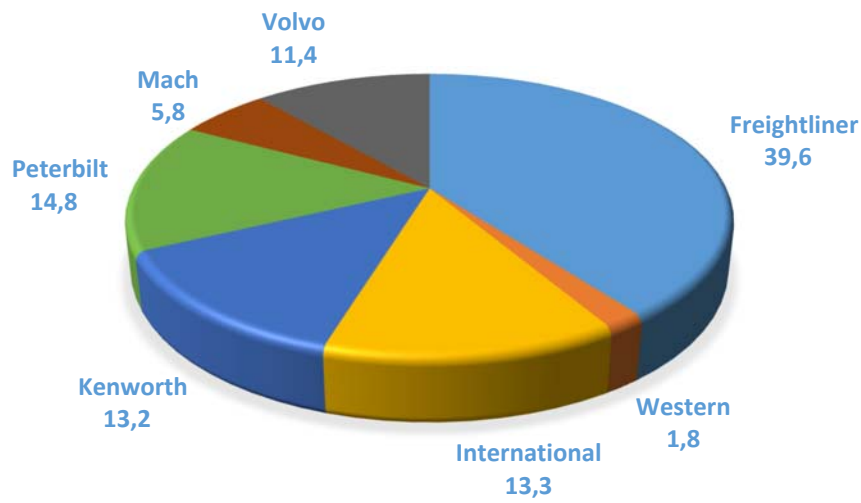

According to preliminary data from Ward's Automotive, sales of Class 8 vehicles in the US rose 34.5% from last year. In the cumulative of October, sales increased by 11,8% compared to last year to 202.088 units.

North American Class 8 orders in October soared past the year-earlier volume and retreated a step or two from the previous month's all-time record, ACT Research reported, calling it further confirmation of pent-up demand.

Preliminary orders were 42,500, according to ACT, which cited truck makers' preliminary data set to be updated soon. That compared with net orders of 23,391 a year earlier.
